

Cyclist and Pedestrian Shared Spaces: What do you think?

In a bid to increase the number of people cycling into the Town Centre, an experimental traffic order was introduced on 3 April 2009 allowing people to cycle on pedestrianised areas that were previously cycle-free. This is known as shared space and encourages cyclists and pedestrians to use the same routes, without segregation.

Woking was awarded Cycling Town status by Cycling England in August 2008, following a successful bid by Woking Borough Council and Surrey County Council.

The Cycle Woking project aims to improve cycling infrastructure in and around the Borough and increase the number of people getting out on their bikes.
