

SURREY POLICE AND CRIME PANEL

POLICING IN YOUR NEIGHBOURHOOD (PIYN) UPDATE

6th February 2017

INTRODUCTION

The Policing in Your Neighbourhood (PiYN) project was launched in April 2016 introducing new ways of working to tackle operational and financial challenges. The Force has now carried out a review to assess how the model has bedded in during the first six months and to identify any improvements that need to be made.

PIYN has, overall, been delivered in accordance with the project timescale and priorities set. Implementation has enhanced the geographic policing structure by aligning uniform resources to the eleven boroughs and districts, whilst retaining command at a divisional level. Geographic alignment augments the 24/7 capability by dedicating resources to the boroughs and districts and introduced Area Policing Teams (APT) to integrate neighbourhood policing, volume crime investigation, response and proactive policing delivery. These teams are supported by specialist teams at a divisional level:

- Community Safety Teams (CST) providing specialist problem solving support
- CID to investigate serious and complex crime
- SIU (Safeguarding Investigation Units) to investigate safeguarding incidents and specific crime types including serious sexual offences; child protection; high and medium risk domestic abuse

REVIEW FINDINGS

The review of Surrey Police's new policing model found that the force is heading in the right direction, and residents have been thanked for their part in thinking twice before assuming a situation is for the police to deal with. The review shows that the changes are starting to have a positive impact and the force is better equipped for the future. From the analysis and findings of the report it has enabled the review to make 31 recommendations to further develop and embed the new operating model. The full report (redacted where necessary) has been made available for panel members and the PiYN post implementation review executive summary is attached.

NEXT STEPS

PIYN is a flexible model, built for the future, so it will continue to evolve. A regular meeting, which includes representation from the OPCC, has therefore been established to review progress and oversee implementation of the review recommendations. The force has committed to independently reviewing the changes in October 2017, 18 months after the launch, and the OPCC will be involved in that process.

RECOMMENDATION

That the Panel notes this report and the PiYN post implementation review executive summary.
